Transportation Moves Wisconsin tour heads to Green Bay/Oshkosh

Green Bay town hall meeting set for Wednesday, May 7 - Oshkosh on Thursday, May 8

(Green Bay) A statewide public outreach effort to collect citizen input on Wisconsin's transportation needs and challenges will come to Green Bay on May 7 and Oshkosh May 8. Wisconsin Department of Transportation (WisDOT) Secretary Mark Gottlieb is hosting the public town hall meetings as part of the department's "Transportation Moves Wisconsin" initiative.

"The goal of this initiative is to give more visibility to the state's multimodal transportation system and to engage people around the state in talking about how it impacts their lives," Secretary Gottlieb said. "The feedback we receive will be important in the development of the next state transportation budget."

Both meetings begin with an open house at 5 p.m., Secretary Gottlieb's presentation at 5:30 p.m., followed by public discussion:

- Wednesday, May 7, Green Bay

US 41 Project Office

1940 West Mason St., Green Bay, WI

- Thursday, May 8, Oshkosh

UW Alumni and Conference Center

625 Pearl Ave., Oshkosh, WI

Staff with WisDOT's Northeast Region will be available at both meetings to answer questions about area transportation projects, but the meeting is focused on broader issues and the need to identify new revenue to make infrastructure investments in all modes of transportation.

Along with attending one of the public town hall meetings, people can also submit comments to the department via the web. Go to www.wisconsinstate.gov and click on the "Transportation Moves Wisconsin" logo.
